A Personal Note from Rahel

India is a vast country of dramatic contrasts, extraordinary cultural richness, and religious diversity. Any visitor to India can choose from a wide array of tours. What distinguishes ours is its "insider's" perspective.

I was born in Calcutta to a family with Baghdadi roots; I live in the United States today and speak widely about the Indian Jewish communities—always adding music wherever I go. My tour partner, Joshua Shapurkar, is a member of the Bene Israel community of Bombay and has been leading general and Jewish tours for twenty-five years. Together we have an intimate knowledge of the Indian Jewish communities and close relationships with its members.

You, too, will be treated as part of our broader family. You will meet and interact with community members, enjoy local hospitality, experience India's magnificent cultural tapestry, and enjoy its rare Jewish treasures. We will attend Shabbat services together in Bombay and Calcutta. I will lead services in the Baghdadi-Indian tradition in the Maghen David Synagogue, where my father was rabbi, and share my memories with you as we walk together through streets and bazaars. Our accommodations are deluxe—and you won't have to worry about meals or transportation in India: everything is included.

What all our tours offer that others don't:

- Personalized attention
- Cohesive groups
- "Insider's" perspective
- Interaction and meals with local communities
- Freshly prepared gourmet meals
- Home hospitality dinner
- In-depth exploration of Jewish history
- Introduction to India's other religions and cultural heritage
- A fabulous team of guides
- Best value for the price!

Testimonials from Past Participants

“A spiritual, enlightening and consciousness-expanding tour. The people were like-minded and kind; a zen atmosphere was present (whenever I needed it to be!). We had soooo many Jewish life-altering experiences, and equally as many fun Indian experiences. Can anyone forget the services in a local synagogue and Shabbat dinner with members of the community under the stars? To balance that out, an elephant ride around—and up—a fortress. The tour guides led with their hearts, and guided us wisely and well. India, where “Guest IS G-D!” —Beverly B., Los Angeles, CA

“Traveling with Rahel was both exhilarating and a deeply emotional experience for me, as my family had lived in India for a few generations before immigrating to the West. The tour presented a good balance between Jewish and general attractions, and I liked the smaller number of participants as it allowed for a meaningful general interaction. Very ‘Indian’ experiences such as rickshaw and elephant rides added ‘spice’ and color. The tour was very comfortable in all aspects – great hotels and meals, transport and the well-chosen places we visited and shopped at. It all worked so smoothly, due to the meticulous and thoughtful planning that went into creating such a memorable and meaningful experience.” —Yael S., Sydney, Australia

“While it’s wonderful to be home, we are constantly asked about our trip to India. As we describe our enchanting journey we relive our magical holiday and many fabulous experiences shared with great new friends. People are absolutely amazed at all we did and that we enjoyed India which we credit to our excellently organized tour.” —Marilyn and Geoff R., Sydney, Australia

“Can anyone else who has traveled to India say that they have seen and done all that we've had in two weeks? I might intentionally miss my flight home.” —Merav D., Brooklyn, NY

“What a fabulous trip! I knew a little about the Jews of India---but never knew how much I didn't know. This trip provided both experience and knowledge, in addition to the "tourist" sites that everyone must see. The guides were fabulous, each presenting a different aspect of India. And, it couldn't have been a nicer group. Thank you for all your personal help and making India so real to us.” —Sue and Marty S., Sarasota, FL

“Many of my friends who are interested in traveling to India were concerned about the thing that also terrified me the most: winding up sick or injured in an Indian hospital. They were very gratified when I told them how safe and wonderful you made it all.” -Eve V., Sydney, Australia

“An extraordinary tour giving a true flavor and appreciation of the complexities of India. The Jewish connection led to my choosing this tour. Rahel and Joshua both have great knowledge and bent over backwards to satisfy every need.” -Freda A., Marshall, MI

“The combination of Rahel’s personal and historical perspectives blended beautifully with Joshua’s extensive knowledge and experience as a guide. Each presented individual perspectives with balance, humor and understanding, providing immense flavor as well as substance.” -Deinya M., Jacksonville, FL

“On a scale of 1-5, I rate the tour a 5 overall. In spite of my being fairly nonobservant, I was increasingly interested in seeing the different synagogues in different, often extremely out-of-the-way places. I looked forward to the food and was not in the least disappointed by the quality or quantity. The tour ran extremely smoothly with meticulous attention to myriad, sometimes conflicting needs. No request was ignored and not satisfied; no question went unanswered.” -Mark H., Ambler, PA

“Your passion for India and Jewish India is contagious! I’m grateful to have been part of this wonderful tour with such compatible people. Each hotel was special and provided luxury and amenities. The meals were delicious. Nothing was left out of the itinerary. This was the trip of a lifetime!” -Arline U., Potomac, MD

“There are many organized tours to the fascinating country of India. There are even a few ‘Jewish’ trips to India. But there is only one Jewish heritage tour to India organized and led by Rahel Musleah and Joshua Shapurkar. Rahel’s and Joshua’s passion, knowledge and many personal connections in the communities we visited greatly enhanced this trip experience for all participants. The few remaining Indian Jews are aging. Go now.” -Neal Farber, Newton, MA

“What a pity you only do India! What about Japan, China . . .?”—Shulamith D., Brazil
